THE REAL CHURCH

If ALL church buildings were destroyed, if all diocesan offices closed, and if all parishes became bankrupt there would still be church. At its deepest and simplest level Church is about the presence of the Risen Christ in the community of believers. Meeting and coming to know Christ personally lies at the heart of the church. Sharing our personal faith stories and building up communities is how we should really be spending our time and energy. Many aspects of church that we have known in this country may be slowly dying. What we need to pray for and accept is the deep renewal that the Holy Spirit brings. Without the Holy Spirit these are just dry bones. In the words of Pope John XXI 11 We must constantly ask for the Holy Spirit to come again "as a new Pentecost."

Helen Norbert Hodge, who documented the introduction of Western-style industrialisation to the remote central Asian region of Ladakh, tells of meeting a young man who was proud of his country. "We Ladakhis are all wealthy" he said with pride. "We have nice clothes, and cows, and plenty of food." Less than two years later she met the same young man again. He had since been exposed to television, jeans and fast cars. "We Ladakhis are so poor" he said. "You must help us"
